Art Unit: 3652

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4/28/06 has been entered.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. Claims 51-53, 55-57, 59-62, and 64-66 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In independent claims 64 and 65, it is not clear what is meant by "the necessary available ... clearance space", in that the metes and bounds of the claim are not clearly set forth. Adding the phrase "lateral and vertical" may describe the type of clearance, but it does not overcome the rejection, because regardless of the type, it is not clear what clearance would be "necessary" and "available".

4. Claim 64 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Christenson (US 5,931,628) in view of Brandt (US 5,851,100), both previously cited.

This rejection is set forth in prior Office action, mailed 4/22/05, paragraph 2, and repeated in the 9/16/05 and 2/28/06 Office actions.

Applicant again argues that the arm arrangement 140 of Christenson shown in the figure 8 embodiment is not disclosed in combination with the container grabber 160 shown in figures 7, 9, and elsewhere. Applicant is again directed to col. 7, lines 10-12 in which, referring to the arm arrangement 140 of figure 8, it is disclosed that "any lifting arm ... may be used with any container grabbing ... apparatus".

Applicant is also directed to the following paragraph, in which it is disclosed that the grabber 160 of figure 7 "may be used with any arm of the present invention". Thus, contrary to applicant's assertion, Christenson explicitly teaches the use of the arm 140 of figure 8 with the grabber 160 of figure 7.

5. Claim 59 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Christenson in view of Brandt, as applied to claim 64 above, and further in view of Duell et al (US 6,123,497), Tordenmalm et al (US 4,896,582), and Sizemore et al (US 5,505,576), all previously cited.

The rejection of this claim without the Sizemore et al reference is set forth in prior Office action, mailed 4/22/05, paragraph 3, and repeated in the 9/16/05 and 2/28/06 Office actions.

The additional feature of mechanical stops 103, 105 to limit the extremes of travel of the arm are shown in figure 8 of Sizemore, see col. 6, last line to col. 7, line 2.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have further modified the apparatus of Christenson with mechanical stops to limit the travel of the arm, as suggested by Sizemore et al, as this would merely be an art recognized design expediency.

Additionally, the use of “computerized” control means, absent any further limitations, is considered merely an additional obvious design expediency, as it has been held that broadly automating or “computerizing” control systems requires only routine skill in the art.

6. Claims 51, 55, 56, 60, 61, 65, and 66 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Christenson in view of Brandt and Sizemore et al.

This rejection is set forth in prior Office action, mailed 4/22/05, paragraph 4, and repeated in the 9/16/05 and 2/28/06 Office actions.

7. Claims 52, 53, 57, and 62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Christenson in view of Brandt and Sizemore et al, as applied to claims 51, 55, 56, 60, 61, 65, and 66 above, and further in view of Duell et al.

This rejection is set forth in prior Office action, mailed 4/22/05, paragraph 5, and repeated in the 9/16/05 and 2/28/06 Office actions.

8. Applicant's arguments filed 4/28/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
